Marching Into Germany.—Futureevidence of the determination of the Germans not to be jarred out of their assumed role of indifference was shown in every village into which the Americans marched Wednesday. The long lines of khaki-clad troops resumed their movement toward the Ithine at daybreak, passing through dozens of villages until another twelve miles had been covered.

Farmers in the fields and residents in the villages and towns glanced at the troops and went on with their work. Here and there Germans stared for a time curiously, but rurely was there a display of emotion of even of keen interest. With the exception of trifling acts by children there have been instances children shouted derigatory remarks and three small stones, but there was nothing more serious but there was nothing more serious than that.
